Welcome to the St. Simons Lighthouse Campus!

Gazebo and Oceanfront Lawn

With views of the Atlantic Ocean, this is a perfect spot for relaxing and photo-taking. It's also the setting for the Society's series of summer music concerts.

Oil House In 1890, this brick oil house was constructed to hold the cans containing fuel for the lighthouse's kerosene lamp. The beam was converted to electricity in 1934.

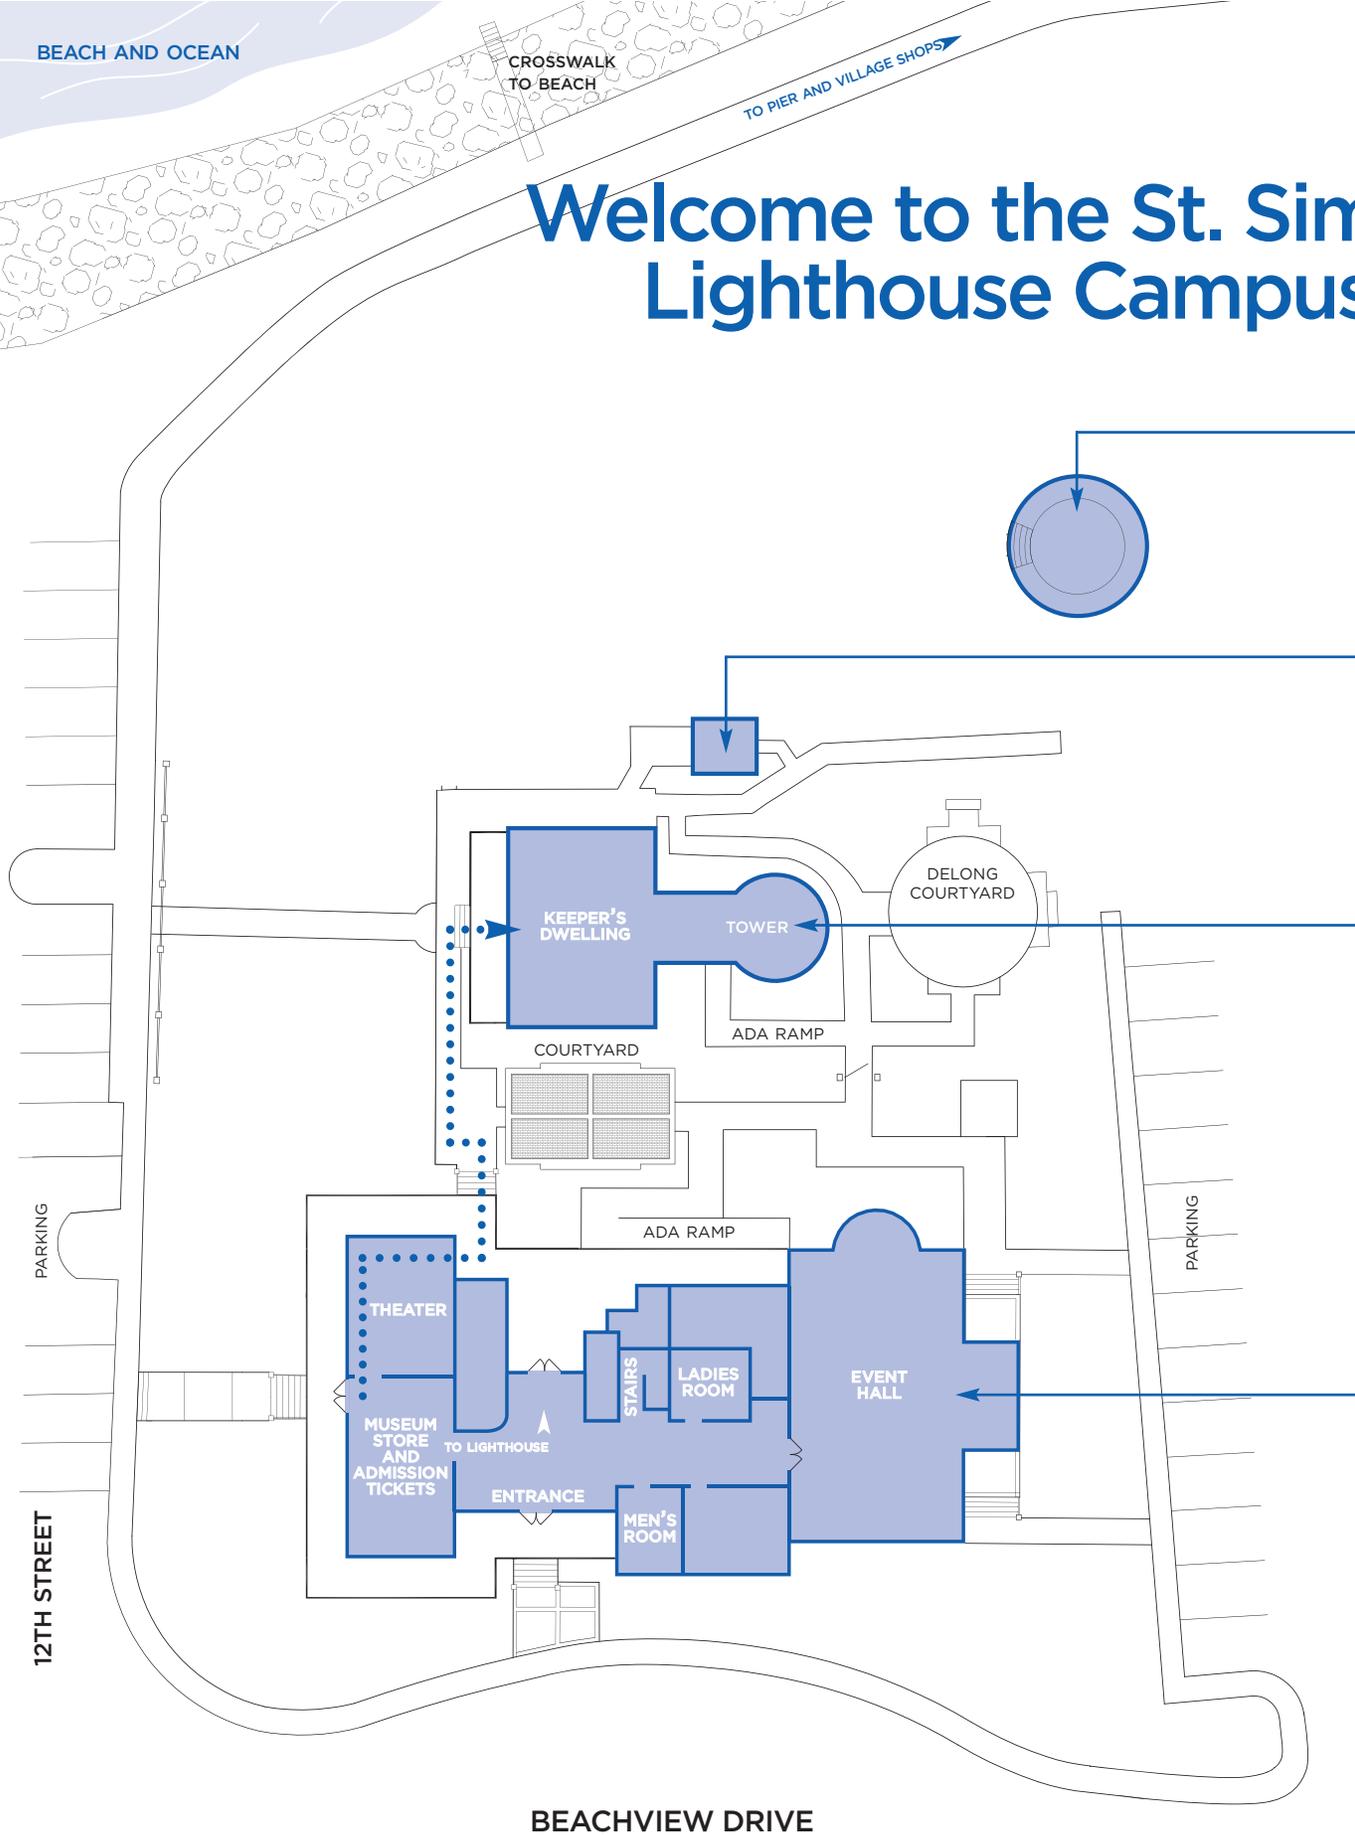

The Keeper's Dwelling Built in 1872 as the home for lightkeepers until the 1950s, this two-story Victorian structure serves today as the St. Simons Lighthouse Museum.

The St. Simons Lighthouse Also built in 1872, the lighthouse stands 104-feet tall. Spectacular, panoramic vistas of the coast are well worth the 129-step, spiral staircase climb to its top!
